

THURSDAY Reading task

This story is called 'The Dragon Machine' by Helen Ward.

Read this part of the story, then have a go at answering the questions about it.

And then the trouble began.

The dragons followed George everywhere. George spent his day cleaning up muddy footprints, sweeping up messes and saying sorry for breaking things that he had not broken.

Something had to be done. George went to search for help.

- 1. What is following George?
- 2. Who has made all of the mess?
- 3. Who has broken things?
- 4. Who might George go to for help?
